City manager hosts Fairfield Community Connection event

Fairfield, California (Wednesday, October 21, 2015)—The City of Fairfield's City Manager's Office will host a new community event called Fairfield Community Connection. City Manager David White and Director of Community Development Karl Dumas will be available to meet with citizens at Panera Bread, 1630 Gateway Boulevard, on Saturday, October 31, 2015, from 9 to 11 a.m. This event provides a unique opportunity for community members to ask questions, share ideas, and learn more about current City projects.

The city manager directs City departments in the implementation of policies adopted by the City Council. He would like to give the community an opportunity to get to know him and to discuss the City's many special projects and initiatives, as well as hear citizens' views on how the City can better serve the community.

During each Fairfield Community Connection, the city manager will be joined by a department director, who will be available to discuss specific issues related to his or her department, in a relaxed setting.

City officials hope community members will feel comfortable asking questions, bringing concerns, or simply getting to know them. These interactions are the foundation of community partnerships. Please join David White and Karl Dumas at Panera Bread, 1630 Gateway Boulevard, on Saturday, October 31, from 9 to 11 a.m.
